Indian Paper Industry Scenario

The paper industry in India registered a growth of about 5.5–6 percent in the years 2022–23, which is lower than the expected growth of 7% due to pandemic issues. However, by the years 2023–24 onward, it is projected that the Indian paper industry will come back to its earlier projected growth track, and the demand for paper in the country will grow to 38 million metric tonnes by the year 2035 from the present consumption of 24 million metric tonnes.

Major changes are taking place in various segments, like writing and printing paper, paperboard, newsprint, tissues, packaging-grade papers, etc. New technologies and modern management will have a vital role in this process. Today India is an excellent and vibrant market for paper and paper products due to the high spending of the middle class and government initiatives on the social development front, which also make the industry more vibrant.

Paperex Conference

Paperex'2023 Conference and Exhibition will offer the latest state-of-the-art technologies and practises for pulp, paper, printing, packaging, publishing, and other allied industries. Paperex is an ideal platform for sourcing technologically and commercially viable technologies for redefining the future of the paper industry in the Post pandemic era and making the industry globally competitive.

With an aim to redefine and restructure the Indian paper industry to make it more competitive, particularly during the post pandemic scenario, the organisers of Paperex are unfolding highly sophisticated technologies, presentations, and conferences at the doorstep of the Indian paper industry. Indian paper industry has to redefine itself to address all emerging challenges and growth prospects of the Industry by the year 2035.

Conference theme: "Paper Industry–Growth & Sustainability Through Green Technologies"

The theme of the Paperex'2023 conference is selected to meet and address all the aspirations of the industry, particularly the post pandemic scenario, and also to meet the projected growth demand of 38 million metric tonnes by the year 2035. The conference will be held from 06 - 08 December 2023 at India Expo Centre, Greater Noida, Delhi - NCR, India.

Awards and recognitions

for the best technologies, practices, Achievements and presentations

The Inpaper International, a Journal on the world pulp and paper industry, in association with IARPMA, has constituted various awards and recognitions along with cash prizes to appreciate and encourage the speakers and start-ups of young minds in the pulp and paper industry who are making presentations during the Paperex'2023 Technical Conference. The winners will be selected by the prominent juries from the three days of technical presentations to be held from December 6–8, 2023. The winners will receive their awards during the valedictory function of Paperex'2023 from the Chief Guest of the event. This is an opportunity for the technology suppliers and technocrats to widely publicise their technologies and ideas among this large pulp, paper, and allied industry.

The purpose of the Paperex Award Programme is to identify the best of the best presentations to pay tribute to excellent and engaging speakers and top sessions identified during the conferences.

Conference Profiles

As an internationally acclaimed series of exhibitions and conferences, the Paperex 2023 conference is designed to meet and highlight the technological advancements taking place in pulp, paper, boards, tissues, packaging, and allied industries all over the world.
